The Philadelphia Business Journal's Best Places to Work program recognizes the top employers in the region each year in partnership with Quantum Workplace.

Quantum administers online surveys to Philadelphia-area workers at all nominated companies, compiling and evaluating the employee feedback to determine our Best Places to Work. Businesses are then ranked in each of five size categories by their composite scores.

The survey measures each company's culture and takes into consideration compensation, benefits and trust in senior leadership.

To be eligible, companies must be headquartered in Greater Philadelphia or have a physical office here. Companies are also required to have a minimum of 10 employees.

This year's Best Places to Work list includes 80 companies divided into categories based on company size: micro (10 to 24 employees), small (25 to 49 employees), medium (50 to 99 employees), large (100 to 299 employees), and extra-large (300 or more employees). We're announcing the unranked 2025 finalists by category throughout this week, continuing today with medium companies. Finalists in the micro category were announced on Monday, followed by the small company finalists on Tuesday.

In total, there are 20 honorees in the medium company category this year. The three highest-ranked companies in each category will be revealed at an event on in South Philadelphia and in a special print edition of the Business Journal on July 25.
